JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Nancy Wynne Chats About the Opening Polo Game at the Philadelphia Country Club Yesterday-Tennis Fans Turn Out in Crowds at Manheim

DEALLY, you don't know just what K to do these days with two sports you love to watch going on, and such perfectly good new clothes to see. The perfectly good new olothes to see. The clothes get me so excited I just about have a fit, because, as I have said over and over, they are so different you just can't get away with last year's things without its being apparent, However, so long as a gown is fresh, has good lines and is not singularly old rtyle, who cares it it was worn last year. You know that is killing about the buds of a year past or more. The year they come out they are dressed up to the nines, not a curl out of place, up to the nines, not a curl out of place, every little accessory as to gloves, every little accessory as to gloves, vells, slippers, etc., just right, but once the year of "out" is over many of them sigh with relief and take to wearing old frocks they had before their debut, even though they have plenty of them from the debutante year and p'enty of new ones besides. It's a sort of let-before she's twenty.

That's why so many are going into the business world; many who do not need to make money, but who feel that they must have something definite to do.

An engagement of interest in this city announced yesterday in Washington, is and Peggy are home from their various visits in Bar Harbor, Newport and ether Northern resorts. Mrs. Thayer was at the tennis one day wearing a stunning frock of oyster white crepe romaine and a large black hat trimmed with water lilles. Peggy's frock was of royal blue erepe de chine, and with its he wore a large white picture hat. I saw Emma Norris, too, another day. Emma is in the sub-deb class this season, as she will make her debut and saveragement of the control of the late at their home on Thurson, as she will make her debut the control of the late at their home on Thurson, as she will make her debut the control of the late at their home on Thurson, as she will make her debut the control of the late at their home on Thurson, as she will make her debut the control of the late at their home on Thurson, as she will make her debut the control of the late at their home on Thurson, as she will make her debut the control of the late at their home on Thurson, as she will make her debut the control of the late at their home on the control of the late at their home on the control of the late at their home on the control of the late at their home on the control of the late at the control of the late at the control of the late at their home on the control of the late at the control of the control of the late at the control of the late at the control of the control of the late at the control of the late at the control of the con royal blue crepe de chine, and with it she wore a large white picture hat. I saw Emma Norris, too, another day. Emma is in the sub-deb class this season, as she will make her debut next year. She has lately returned from Narragansett Pier, where she stayed with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Miss Nancy Woolston, and their niece, Miss Nancy Woolston, and their niece, Miss Josephine Jenks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Jenks, of Mount Kemble, Morristown, N. J. The card of Mr. and Mrs. Jenks is inclosed.

been very much shocked, as I was, yesterday to hear of the sudden death, in Boston on Tuesday night, of Mrs. Taylor was motoring down from Northeast Harbor with her son-in-law and daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Neidhard Martin, and was motoring down the control of daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Neidhard Martin, and was apparently in perfect health. When they reached Boston Mrs. Taylor was taken suddenly ill with a heart attack and died at 8 o'clock that evening. Mrs. Taylor was the grandmother of Evelyn Martin, gs without the convergence of th daughter, Mrs. Martin, who was aline Taylor, Mrs. Taylor is survived by a son, Hollinshead N. Taylor, who mar-ried Mary Stockton, of this city.

WELL, now you know two of the rumored broken engagements. They were those of Cornelia Rankin and Alfy ing old frocks they had before their debut, even though they have plenty of them from the debutante year and p'enty of new ones besides. It's a sort of letting down, a realization that they are ho longer the cynosure of all eyes, and, I doubt not, a practical announcement of their utter relief because it's all over.

Personally, I think too much of the entertaining and good times are given over to the debutantes, and, believe me, the practice is growing. Every year there are more and more parties for them and fewer for girls of a year or two years' vintage. Why, if a girl comes out at seventeen, as many of them do these days, she's on the shelf before she's twenty.

That's why so many are going into the business world; many who do not the business world; many who do not the business world; many who do not the shelf before she's twenty.

That's why so many are going into the business world; many who do not the business world; many who do not the same these of Cornelia Rankin and Alfy Hunter and Catherine Morris and Rodolphe de Schauensee. But what of a new engagement which I hear rumored around. It's coming out in a day or two and it's awfully nice. The girl made her debut a couple of years ago. If I am not mistaken, and the man has some awfully attractive sisters. That's all I'll tell you, but really you ought to have some idea from that. Oh, the man is a brother of one of this season's debbies, too; that's another clue. You know there are only about seventy of the debs who have brothers, so really it ought not to be hard to guess. Maybe I'll tell you till Saturday.

NANCY WYNNE.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Incidentally, Mrs. Wainwright and Emma won in the doubles at the tennis tournament held on the Tuesday after Labor Day at Point Judith Country Club. They were victorious over Mrs. John Lowber Welsh, Jr., and Kitty Brinton. Mrs. Wainwright and Emma took part in the tennis at the Philatok part in the tennis at the Philahas grown very tall lately. She is fair, like the Dixon family (of which her mother is the only daughter whose hair is dark) and she has blue eyes. She was wearing a frock of gray crepe romaine the other afternoon, and her hat was a soft felt model of the same color, trimmed with a pheasant on brim, the latter being turned back off the face. Emma's mother was Miss Emmie Dixon, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dixon and sister of Mrs. John Fagan, Mrs. Henry Carvill Lewis. Mrs. Wainwright and Margaretta and Frazier Dixon.
